Message From The President

“Engagement” epitomizes my first year serving on the Board of Directors. As the swimming community resumes competition at all levels, Swim BC finds itself excitingly engaged in every element of the sport: registration, certification, governance, programming, competition management, strategic planning and development, and most importantly, communication. We are striving to communicate more effectively with our members, the swimming community, other Provincial Sports Organizations (PSOs), and our national governing body for competitive swimming, Swimming Canada (SNC). We have identified many areas for improvement.

We are also engaging internally as a “new” board. The Board of Directors has welcomed 4 new members this season and the committees have been very active to deliver value in all areas of governance to our members. Building on the work from last season on bylaws and policies, Swim BC has undertaken the development of key policies and provided templates for the ease of adoption by members to ensure the protection of members, swimmers and the community. As part of this year’s Congress, we have invited James Bretzlaff and Stephen Indig to engage our members directly in seminars on club culture and policies as part of the club development series.

Financially, we finish the season in a surplus position due to the interesting challenge of being unable to execute some programs and initiatives due to constraints presented by Covid. We were also in receipt of significant subsidies from the government and SNC which we prudently expect to disappear as we put Covid in our rear view.

The Swim BC team has grown, creating new opportunities for team members, and the work of the HR Committee has and will continue to focus on personal and team development to ensure a positive culture from within the organization.

Circling back to Board turnover, the Nominations Committee has identified challenges with our board structure leaving representation thin in some areas. The task for the upcoming season is to assess and present alternative board structures for consideration and review the recruitment process to optimize functional skills needed and passion for swimming to live on our board.

The development of the strategic planning process continues. The board has met twice during the season for day-long sessions and adopted “strategic planning development” as an agenda item for each board meeting to ensure we are consistently revisiting the plan and our strategic goals remain aligned. We have also identified the importance of culture and are drawing expertise to help us develop good culture in our sport through mindful strategy.

The efforts of the team and board at Swim BC are to serve our members. Through proactive and healthy engagement we strive to understand your needs and aspirations for swimming in BC. We invite you to engage us and share your ideas, opinions and dreams for the shape of competitive swimming in the province, and support Swim BC’s goal to be a leading PSO in Canada.

Yours in swimming,
Jeannie Lo
President, Swim BC

Message from the Executive Director

Over the past several years Swim BC has worked to address several governance and administrative issues. Upgrading Swim BC financial procedures resulted in a change of fiscal year to align with our funding partners and Swimming Canada, meaning our fiscal year (April 1 – March 31) now offsets our competitive season (September 1 – August 31) by 5 months. Please keep this in mind when reviewing annual reports from Swim BC – financial references made are for the fiscal year April 1, 2021 - March 31, 2022; other operations are based on the competition season September 2021 – August 2022.

The 2021 – 22 BC swimming season began under significant provincial COVID restrictions. The annual Congress had been cancelled, competition sanctioning was restrictive, and we were working to adopt online programming for the Performance Development activities. Progressing through the fall we continued to be challenged as new vaccination policy restrictions further magnified the profound variances our member clubs faced in dealing with their aquatic facilities and municipal governments. Through the fall and winter our membership showed a resilience not typical of other sports, our registration numbers trended towards 90% of the previous non-COVID season. While many other sports were concerned about plummeting registrations, our clubs were able to maximize the opportunities provided by the BC Public Health Officer and provide accessible and safe sport programming for BC youth. The resilience our membership showed was profoundly noted as we made the challenging decision on January 24th to return to Provincial level competition. Swim BC was the first swimming PSO in Canada to make the decision to return to full competition, recognizing conditions were beginning to improve and our membership was more than ready to compete. In February and March, we were able to host the new Divisional and Provincial competition format for the first time since those formats were developed in 2019. Getting back to technical operations exposed a few issues requiring attention in February / March, however the competition format has generally been well received, and after ironing out the start-up bumps the summer competitions were a success.

The early spring transition back to “near normal” and emergence from COVID restrictions permitted a rush back to the technical programming role Swim BC had not been able to provide for two plus years. Combined with the BC Games and Canada Games programs also coming back, we faced significant HR capacity issues at Swim BC. With one staff member moving on, our experience was no different than general societal issues, we found it difficult to find qualified staff. After two attempts, we were excited to add Elisa Greenway (Administrative Coordinator) and Tracy Gardner (Club Services Manager) to the team in July. Adding Tracy allows Sam Thoms to move to a new portfolio (Technical Manager) providing much needed capacity to the Technical Services role for Swim BC. Many of the challenges we experienced as we came back on track after 2 years of deferring programming were related to a lack of capacity in support of our technical operations. For Technical Director Cory Beatt and Carrie Matheson (Sr Manager, Tech Operation) the added HR capacity provides more strength to action programs and deliver at a consistently high level.

Back in October, we thanked President Linda Metcalfe for the four years she guided the organization and Board to higher standards of governance processes and operations. We welcomed Jeannie Lo as the new Swim BC President and refreshed the Board with new voices from John Lawrence and Barb Ferreira. Later in the year, Kristi McIntosh would join the remaining Board members Michael Hoche, Mark Versfeld and Sheila Nelson. The Board made significant headway not only in navigating the society through challenging times, but proactively actioned a huge upgrade in safe sport policies and began the challenging role of strategic planning.

With the 2021 Congress cancelled and the AGM held virtually, in-person Club Development Seminars were not possible, so we shifted to hosting webinars January through March, the focus on club board's roles and responsibilities. We continue to work on this important issue, not only to risk manage both Swim BC and member clubs, but to strive to evolve resilient boards who will be better positioned to manage the complexities of modern Canadian sport organizations.

This was another issue that became prevalent through the summer of 2022 – the recognition that sport administration in Canada was increasingly under the “microscope” as a sector that required profound attention in the culture and how we conduct ourselves. We are proud of the work we’ve done with Sport Law in delivering the Swim BC Bylaws Manual, and several safe sport policy templates that allow our membership to begin to address the culture of our sport where it happens, at the club level. We recognize that club coaches and volunteers are the most important leaders in addressing and changing the way sport is conducted. We will continue to work in this area as we evolve our strategic direction.

As previously mentioned, it was a busy competitive summer with our provincial competitions, BC Games, Canada Games and Swimming Canada Junior and Senior nationals. BC Clubs embraced these competitive opportunities with strong support and quality results at every level. Please reference the following pages of this report to review the significant performances of BC swimmers this past season.

In closing, I'll reiterate that our sport has proven to be more resilient than others – we are however, not where we need to be. We intend to lead BC and Canadian sport and truly embrace and evolve a culture where all British Columbians can access and discover their personal excellence in our sport, in the manner that they feel most comfortable and welcome. As does all of the sport sector, we have much to do.

Governance

The work of the Swim BC Board is conducted by four Standing Committees. These committees, the committee members and the committee reports are as follows:

Finance Committee (FC)

Chair: Michael Hoche

Members: Mark Versfeld, Jeannie Lo

The committee met on a regular basis to review the financials of Swim BC and reported to the board at regular meetings. The Financial Committee comprised Michael Hoche as chair, Mark Versfeld, and Jeannie Lo. Members of the Finance Committee co-sign supplier payments of any magnitude greater than $2000.

During fiscal 2021/2022 Swim BC's greatest challenge was to be able to spend out budget plans in a Covid 19 limited environment. In early 2022, it became apparent in our fiscal forecast that Swim BC would anticipate a significant surplus. As a result, we tasked the Executive Director to identify one-time strategic expenditures to lower the anticipated surplus. A list of such one-time expenditures was created in the magnitude of approximately $150 K. Examples of material items include website enhancements and our pink cap anti-bullying campaign. The Board then approved these unbudgeted expenditures. Once again, due to the covid 19 situation we were unable to spend all suggestions.

As a result, and due to special Covid 19 funding from the government and SNC, we still finished with a sizable fiscal 21/22 surplus. Therefore, the Financial Committee and the Board approved a fiscal 2022/23 to have a deficit budget with remaining one-time expenditures and additional staff for Swim BC. We continue to monitor our financial situation monthly and pursue a break even result in fiscal 2022/23.

Policy Committee

Chair: Sheila Nelson

Members: Barb Ferreira, John Lawrence

This has been an unusually busy year for the Policy Committee. Recognizing that important policies needed to be put into place faster than they could be created internally, Swim BC commissioned experts in this field to provide a set of draft policies and documents. The draft package included safe sport policies, administrative documents, governance documents and templates.

The Policy Committee met monthly to review the documents for relevance to the operations of Swim BC and its members and many of those policies have now been approved by the Swim BC Board of Directors. These include the Social Media Policy, Athlete Protection Policy, Dispute and Appeal Policies and many more.

The Policy Committee is committed to completing its review of the remaining documents in the draft package in the coming year and has a system in place to ensure approved policies are reviewed regularly. Additionally, the Committee welcomes any and all feedback on the policies that have been published thus far as well as suggestions for policies that should be implemented.

Human Resources Committee

Chair: Mark Versfeld

Members: Barb Ferreira, John Lawrence

The Human Resources committee met on a routine basis to review the HR structure, management, and related policies of Swim BC to ensure organisational continuity and competitiveness. The HR Committee reported at regular board meetings and was comprised of Mark Versfeld as chair, Barb Ferreira, and John Lawrence.

During the course of the 2021/2022 year, the committee established procedures to ensure the continuity of confidential HR files and enlisted an HR advisor as a consultative resource. The committee reviewed the employment agreements of senior management and gathered input to examine how the performance reviews of management can better align with, and capture progress towards the objectives of the organisation. The committee received frequent input from the President on how regular meetings with our Executive Director could be reflected in this process, as well as to provide feedback for a mid-year review. This process highlighted the need for an updated strategic plan containing KPI's and strategic priorities to better measure progress towards achieving those goals.

The committee also provided some oversight over how the enhanced provision of services was pursued through staffing requirements and how they compare to the capacity of similar PSO's across the country. We continue to monitor the processes, policies, and initiatives necessary to enhance the human resources of Swim BC.

Ensuring member contributions and a clear membership voice to Swim BC, the following Operating Committees are struck and formally report to the Executive Director. The committee members and summary of activities are as follows:

Officials Development

The 2021-22 season saw the return of in-person competitions. As clubs and facilities worked through the changes in COVID-19 restrictions, the Officials Committee stated that the focus would be on supporting Club Official Directors in rebuilding their officials base and assisting officials interested in continuing their official development. Updates in the Swimming Canada Learning Management System (LMS) helped clubs organize, run and update officials' development more accurately and efficiently.

Officials Development Initiatives

Senior Officials' Symposium

Swim BC hosted our senior officials virtually for approximately 55 Senior Officials. Topics covered: working with different facilities restrictions, Provincial and National Meet Schedule, updates and review the RTR and LMS, what officials are required for meets, and referee review and refresh.
